

COMMODORE 64/128

VIDEO MEANIES

MASTERTRONIC

VIDEO MEANIES

VIDEO MEANIES

VIDEO MEANIES

Shoot your way through 24 Meanie filled screens to get to the video. Stunning sound effects, great graphics and guaranteed infatuation!

SCREEN SHOTS

THE GAME

Will you survive in a world where you are going to be busy? Especially when it belongs to some very different who lives in a little bit of history. Will you be able to survive in a world where you are going to be busy? Especially when it belongs to some very different who lives in a little bit of history. Will you be able to survive in a world where you are going to be busy? Especially when it belongs to some very different who lives in a little bit of history.

A few surprises and obstacles await you, which you'll have to deal with your gun. To open doors you will need special keys. Only one will work and all those lying around look identical. When you come to a robot screen marked X, touch it and you will be given the chance to gamble for extra keys. If you win you will be awarded a quantity of points, an extra life or fuel and a bonus for your remaining energy. Lose and you lose a life and have to restart on the screen again. Deciding to gamble will pause on the screen and give you a bonus for your remaining energy.

When a screen is switched on a face will appear, your energy will be restored and a point appears in the upper of the top left of the screen. The game is completed when all 11 pieces are in place.

CONTROLS

joystick or pad (for a keyboard control)

- ← Left
- Right
- ↑ Up
- ↓ Down
- Space Fire
- F1 Jump
- F2 Keyboard

LOADING INSTRUCTIONS

Hold down SHIFT key and press RETURN key

The game is a single player game and should be played on a computer with a keyboard and a mouse. The game is a single player game and should be played on a computer with a keyboard and a mouse.

© 1999 Microsoft Corp.

Microsoft and the

Microsoft logo are registered trademarks of

