Safety Information

About Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a dNovor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures.

The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by sitting farther from the television screen, using a smaller television screen, playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a dNovor before playing.

Other Important Health and Safety Information The Xbox Instruction Manual contains important health and safety information that you should read and understand before using this software.

Avoid Damage to Your Television

Do not use with certain televisions. Some televisions, especially front- or rear-projection types, can be damaged if any video games, including Xbox games, are played on them. Static images presented during the normal course of game play may "burn in" to the screen, causing a permanent shadow of the static image to appear at all times, even when video games are not being played. Similar damage may occur from static images created when placing a video game on hold or pause. Consult your television owner's manual to determine if video games can be played safely on your set. If you are unable to find this information in the owner's manual, contact your television dealer or the manufacturer to determine if video games can be played safely on your set.

Unauthorized copying, reverse engineering, transmission, public performance, rental, pay for play, or circumvention of copy protection is strictly prohibited.

About 1800 years ago in China, there were three fearless warriors battling for ultimate control over the country.

One who sought for hegemony.
One who sought for ambition.
One who stood up for righteousness.

Veterans who shared the same visions swarmed under each leader. These stalwart souls waged war across the vast expanse of the land and, like blood thirsty demons, cut down any and all that stood in their way. They only followed their own rules. They were both revered as mighty heroes and feared by millions...

TIPS AND HINTS

Regain health with a Meat Bun!

Remain calm when your life becomes low.

<Get life-recovering items>

When your life becomes low, find a Meat Bun to recover. Look for a jar containing an item. Go where soldiers are fighting and check if there are any items left. Defeated enemy soldiers might have left some health behind.

<Break through a siege with a Musou Attack>

It's not a good sign when you see enemy soldiers surrounding you. Use a Musou Attack to break the wall of enemies. Move away quickly when the siege is broken, and get ready for the next attack.

Fight together!

Fight together with allied officers.

Stay close to other soldiers until your character improves his ability. If you take off alone towards enemies, you might end up getting attacked by a large group of enemies. Check where your allies are on the map before you make a move.

I'm counting on you!

Always on your side: The Bodyguard

<What about your bodyguard's life?>

Bodyguards are always on your side protecting you or assisting you to defeat your enemies. But just like your life, a bodyguard's life decreases after hard battles. To recover your bodyguard's life, get life-recovering items such as Meat Bun. Make sure to always supply life to your bodyguards.

<How do you improve your bodyguard's abilities?>

Your bodyguards' class goes up automatically when your character's points increase. When the bodyguard reaches the next class, one of his abilities (NUMBER, RANK, TITLE, ABILITY) randomly increases. You can check your bodyguards' information in the PERSONAL screen during a stage.

<How do you give an order to your bodyguards?>

To give an order to your bodyguards, select BODYGUARDS from EQUIPMENT item in the information screen. When you select ATTACK, the bodyguards will fight with you. When you select DEFENSE, they refrain from attacking. You can change the bodyguard's order in PERSONAL item from the information screen.

Strengthen your officer with different types of items.

I'm feeling my power!

<Items that are effective immediately>

Items such as Sword and Shield become effective immediately after acquisition. Don't wait to grab them when you see the items on a stage. Recover-items such as a Meat Bun, or items with limited usage, such as Armor and Axe, disappear after a certain amount of time. Get these items when you need the effect to work on you immediately.

<Items that need to be equipped to be effective>

You can go to WEAPONS or ITEMS at the RESULTS screen after the stage is cleared successfully, to check newly acquired items. To try your new items, go to EQUIPMENT in the information screen at the beginning of the next stage.

Increase your fame by defeating high ranking officers.

<How do you defeat high ranking officers?>

High ranking officers are not only strong and powerful, but they have an ability to recover life by themselves. When these officers recover their life, they first collect their spirit. Then they use life-recovering items. Watch their moves closely and attack to stop them from collecting spirits.

<When you defeat high ranking officers>

Rewards from defeating high ranking officers are very valuable. Most of the items you get as a result increase your character's ability. You can also increase your points greatly, and also gain fame.

Kick with a horse and step on with an elephant.

A soldier and his horse become one!

<On a horse...>

You can shorten your transportation time a great deal by riding a horse. You can execute most of the attacks, including Normal Attack, Charge Attack, and Musou Attack on a horse. If you have a high level horse, you can knock off the low level soldier. But the horse will stop in front of high level officers or soldiers. Be careful when the horse is off guard.

<On an elephant...>

You can ride on an elephant in some stages. Elephants are slower than horses but they are more powerful. They can knock over anybody and the damage is great. They also have their unique special attack.

Execute a Combo for maximum damage.

When more than 5 attacks are executed continuously, the attacks are counted as a Combo. You can make Combos more easily when you execute combination attacks, Musou Attacks, or Charge Attacks. Also try to execute a Combo when the enemy is thrown in the air or bounces on the ground. Each officer has his/her own special Combo pattern. Try different Combos.

100 enemies defeated?
Keep trying!

Increase morale and lead the war.

Morale of the entire army depends on morale of each troop. The troop's morale affects its attack strength. When you decrease your enemy's morale, your troop's morale increases and you get an advantage in battle. To increase morale, defeat high ranking officers or the entire enemy troop. You can also increase morale by defeating a fixed number of enemies. Encourage your allies with your brave actions and bring morale higher.

I'll find you!

Victory or defeat depends on commanders.

<Protect your army's commander>
The game is over when your commander is defeated even if you are alive. Check the location of your commander in the Information screen. When the "HQ is in trouble!" message comes on, stop everything and rush over to the commander's location to assist.

<The target is the enemy commander>
The goal is to defeat the enemy commander. You should always know where the enemy commander is on the battlefield. If you are confident in your skills, you can attack the commander alone. But remember, one does not fight a battle. Check your battle conditions and bring the entire army to fight the ultimate enemy. The victory is certain.

Choose color for your character.

There are two different color variations for character's costume. To choose a normal costume color, enter your character selection with the A button. For a different costume color, enter your character selection with the B button. In Versus Mode, you can select the same characters in different costume colors and have them fight.
