Safety Information

About Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms including: lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms - children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures.

The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by sitting farther from the television screen, using a smaller television screen, playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

Other Important Health and Safety Information The Xbox Instruction Manual contains important safety and health information that you should read and understand before using this software.

Avoid Damage to Your Television

Do not use with certain televisions. Some televisions, especially front- or rear-projection types, can be damaged if any video games, including Xbox games, are played on them. Static images presented during the normal course of game play may "burn in" to the screen, causing a permanent shadow of the static image to appear at all times, even when video games are not being played. Similar damage may occur from static images created when placing a video game on hold or pause. Consult your television owner's manual to determine if video games can be played safely on your set. If you are unable to find this information in the owner's manual, contact your television dealer or the manufacturer to determine if video games can be played safely on your set.

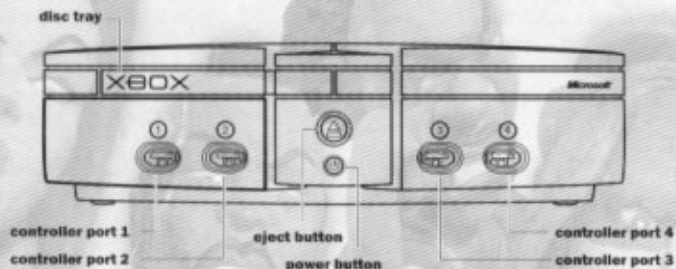

Unauthorized copying, reverse engineering, transmission, public performance, rental, pay for play, or circumvention of copy protection is strictly prohibited.

WEAPONS

The Axe of Assassination: This medieval weapon slices and dices and when your opponent has less than 25% health, you can start chopping off their arms.

A Button, X Button: Attack
Y Button: Throw the Axe without auto target
B Button: Drop\Pick up the Axe

The Tennis Ball Launcher of Lunacy: fully automatic and air Cooled, this bad boy launches tennis balls that even Andre couldn't return.

A Button, X Button: Fire Tennis Ball Launcher without auto target
Y Button: Fire Tennis Ball Launcher with auto target
B Button: Drop\Pick up the Tennis Ball Launcher

The Diabolic Dynamite: This item was once used to blast through the earth for mining. Now, you can use it to blast through your opponents. Throw it at an opponent with less than 20% health, and laugh maniacally as their legs get blown away. Careful though, this thing has a short fuse.

A Button, X Button: Throw the dynamite
Y Button: Throw the dynamite in a high arc
B Button: Drop\Pick up the Dynamite

The Crossbow of Catastrophe: This ancient weapon was once a revolutionary war innovation. Now, considering all the belt fed, fully automatic rifles the military employs, it's pretty useless—but in the Deathmatch Arena it is a fun way to get your point across.

A Button, X Button: Fire the Crossbow without auto target
Y Button: Fire the Crossbow with auto target
B Button: Drop\Pick up the Crossbow

The Bazooka of Barbarity: It's a bit like swatting a fly with a sledgehammer, but in the Deathmatch Arena there's no such thing as overdoing it. Hit an opponent with less than 25% health if you think they no longer need their arms.

A Button, X Button: Fire Bazooka without auto target

Y Button: Fire Bazooka with auto target

B Button: Drop\Pick up Bazooka

The Blunderbuss of Brutality: This ancient turkey-hunting weapon is now a staple of Deathmatch entertainment. Careful though, these guns were made before they invented recoil buffers.

A Button, X Button: Fire the Blunderbuss without auto target

Y Button: Fire the Blunderbuss with auto target

B Button: Drop\Pick up the Blunderbuss

The Crate of Calamity: What good is a video game without some box in it. So here you go.

A Button, X Button: Throw the box

Y Button: Throw the box in a high arc

B Button: Drop\Pick up the box

The Chainsaw of Cruelty: TIMMMBERRRR!!!! If you want to hack up your opponent into a bloody stump that barely resembles a 2200 polygon figure anymore, this is the tool for you. It starts the chopping once your opponent is below 30% health.

A Button, X Button, Y Button: Swing the chainsaw

B Button: Drop\Pickup the chainsaw

POWERUPS

The All Day Spa: Cures celebrity health by 10%.

The Nose Job and Tummy Tuck: Cures celebrity health by 25%.

The Jackson Special: Restores celebrities to full health and regenerates all dismembered limbs.

Feng Shui Facsimile: The celebrity rids their mind of all distracting and negative thoughts and mentally reorganizes. The celebrity can now focus on alleviating pain from the body and will take less damage from their opponent.

The RS Injection: A concoction of green tea leaves, LA smog, and the mad cow virus, this scientifically engineered substance temporarily enhances a celebrity's strength.

Speed Boost: This stuff gives you wings. Once taken, a celebrity absorbs enough caffeine to make a quadruple shot of espresso seem like a glass of dirty water.

The Ex-Clay-Mation Point: This magical wonder frees the inner-child of the celebrity from its worldly confines, thus allowing more meaningful relationships, a broader understanding of self and the ability to transcend time and space. Oh, it also makes your celeb's attacks unblockable.
