A watercolor-style illustration of a young girl with dark hair, wearing a purple and blue headband with a pink bow. She is sitting on the ground in a forest, surrounded by large, glowing sunflowers. She is holding a long, thin rod with a red and yellow bow at the end, which is attached to a cocoon. The scene is set in a forest with trees and green grass. A yellow scroll with a black border is positioned in the foreground, containing text.

Spinning cocoons yields our daily bread.
Prayer brings purification.
These are the laws for living in harmony with the forest.

The people of Parel are being terrorized by horrible monsters, known as Minions, from the Curse of Alcana. Though the villagers fought the Minions, they still could coexist with the forest. But that was until the Onibubu, the Locusts of Apocalypse, attacked the town without warning, plunging many of the villagers into a deep and endless sleep.

Syrus once had a great hunter, known as a Cocoon Master, who could capture Forest Minions and soothe their miserable hearts. But the Cocoon Master disappeared several years ago, and his whereabouts are still unknown. But all hope is not lost. The village has proclaimed young Levant the new Cocoon Master and sent him into the Forest in a desperate attempt to save them.

During his difficult and lonely quest, Levant will learn much of the world around him: the origin of the Curse of Alcana, the power of the Forest God, Elrihm, the brilliance of His Divine Minions, the cursed legacy of the Nagi people, and even the truth of his own fate. As he ventures into the depths of the forest, Levant will face countless ordeals as he fights the Minions. His holy tasks are to restore nature's lost harmony, decide the fate of his world, and learn to protect and care for the one he loves.

CHARACTERS

Here's a brief introduction to the game's main characters.

Levant

A young man born to a long-line of Cocoon Masters. He is the hero of the game and the character you will play. He was raised by his mother since his father Riketz disappeared when he was but an infant. He is very good to his mother and finds it very difficult to forgive his father for abandoning them.

Mahbu

She's the childhood friend and fiancé of the game's hero, who has trouble accepting her role in society. As a Nagi woman, custom dictates that she must marry the town Cocoon Master when he comes of age. The very strong-willed girl Mahbu was toughened by a childhood of rough treatment towards Nagi by the villagers.

Old Nagi woman who has taken care of Mahbu since she was a child. As a shaman with extraordinary magical power, she helps Levant with his ordeals.

Garai

Nagi woman and mother of Levant. She was wed to Riketz as determined by the ancient Law. Though Riketz disappeared, and many think he abandoned her or was killed by the Minions, she still loves him and waits his return. She no longer practices the divine Nagi magic. Instead, she works at the Silk Mill where she treated coldly by the villagers.

Phio

Shaman of Syrus. She is a descendant of the Alchemists of Gehenna Pale, the former kingdom that once spanned this land. Jibara controls village politics in the shadows.

Jibara

Kelmar

Blacksmith's son and Levant's best friend. Kelmar is a sort of leader among the village youths. He is a little concerned about Mahbu.

Lui

Youth who resides in the Watchtower Hut at the village entrance. He has lived all alone as the Watchtower's keeper ever since Forest Minions killed his parents long ago. He has vowed to become a stronger warrior so that he can avenge their death.

Grotta

Chief of Syrus. With the real power in the Jibara's hands, Grotta is but a symbol of authority. He is not seen often as he spends most of his time secluded within his estate.

Yajako and Ada

Husband and wife who run the Blacksmith shop. Kelmar is their son. Yajako is a stubborn man who says little. Ada tends to be a bit of a busybody, but she is generous and kind.

Koris, the Blue Cocoon Master

A proud and independent Cocoon Master. Koris has built a cottage in the depths of the Beetle Forest where he continues to practice his art. Though his past is shrouded in mystery, he is known to have been a good friend of Riketz, the Lion of Parel. Ever since Riketz disappeared, Koris has been helping Syrus by hunting Forest Minions.

Forest People

Guardians of the Divine Tree. Rumor has it that they can be found in the Spider Forest.

Elemental Affinity

Each monster has an affinity towards fire, water, wind, or earth. They will have more special attacks and spells for their element. They will also have strengths and weakness depending on their element. For instance, a fire-based monster is more vulnerable to water-based magic. The interrelationship between elements is as shown below.

Interrelationship between elements

Example: Water is stronger than fire, weaker than earth, and neutral versus wind.

Elemental properties are dramatically affected by merging monsters. A monster with multiple elemental properties can use a variety of special attacks and spells, but their corresponding weak points will also increase.

Example: Merging a fire-based and water-based monster produces a monster with both fire and water elemental-properties.

Advantage: Able to use both fire and water-based special attacks and spells.

Disadvantage: Becomes weaker against water and earth-based special attacks and spells.

Raising Monsters

Your monsters will grow as you play the game and rack up more and more combat victories. When your monster has enough experience points to gain a level, its ability values will increase. The monster's body will grow larger as well. Monster growth is divided into levels 1 to 5.

U.S. TEAM

THE ETERNAL CORRIDOR

This is a game mode playable only after you finish the main game.

The Eternal Corridor lets you concentrate on capturing Forest Minions and merging monsters.

The map generates automatically as you travel through the forest. You cannot exit the forest through the entrance. You can use the Earring of the Hunter to exit, but the map will be different the next time you enter. The game will count each time you leave through the forest's exit. In the forest's depths, you will find very powerful enemies near the exit.

In this mode, you will come across Minions and items that are not in the main game (for instance, a water-based patalchu). Each time you leave the forest through the exit and re-enter through the entrance, you will come across even more rare Minions and items. However, the data you save in the Eternal Corridor can only be used in this mode.

Eternal Corridor Game Play

In the title screen, select Continue. The Eternal Corridor mode will start when you select an open memory block.

Enter the forest where you capture Minions while seeking an exit.

Try again once you have escaped the forest. The map changes each time.

A powerful enemy awaits you at near the exit in the forest's depths. Only by playing will you find out what happens if you defeat it.

FOREST MINIONS

This section introduces the Forest Minions appearing in Jade Cocoon. Minions are broadly classified using two categories. The first is species, which classifies them by their appearance such as humanoid or snake-like, and the second is elemental property, which classifies them by their special attacks and spells using fire, wind, water, and earth. Each time you combine monsters, its species classification (appearance and shape) and elemental property classification (state, spells, and special attacks) will be altered.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

The section defines the terms you will come across while playing Jade Cocoon.

Cocoon Master

Hunter who captures and summons Forest Minions by playing his flute. Each village in Parel has a Cocoon Master who is a descendant of a long line of Cocoon Master, before him. The Law states that Cocoon Masters who have come of age must marry a Nagi woman to carryout cocoon purification. They are feared and despised by villagers, probably due to their mysterious powers and frequent encounters with Forest Minions.

Nagi People

Tribe who have been bestowed with the power of Elrihm, God of the Forest. Having survived a history of persecution, their greatest desire is the freeing of their souls that is to occur at the Time of Gathering. They use the power of Elrihm to create divine barriers and purify Minions' souls. One Nagi woman is sent to each village to marry its Cocoon Master.

Divine Magic

Power of Elrihm possessed by the Nagi people. The Nagi wife of a Cocoon Master uses this power to purify and spin cocoons. Cocoons that have been purified become white cocoons that can be spun into valuable silk, but each time a Nagi woman spins one, she is inflicted by the misery of the beast within. This appears in the form of strange patterns known as cursed brandings that develop all over her body.

Forest Minions

These monsters were once normal animals. Cocoon Masters and the Nagi people call them Forest Minions because legend says that Elrihm transformed them into horrible beasts. Those that have been captured in a cocoon and purified by divine magic are specifically known as divine beasts.

Beasts of Knowledge

Refers to humankind. They are so named because the divine spirit Amos gave them their flesh and the divine spirit Mamon gave them their knowledge. Elrihm, the God of Creation and God of the Forest, entrusted these spirits with bringing life to the forest.

Village of Syrus

Village of the legendary Lion of Parel. It lies on the edge of Parel's immense forest. The village profits from its high-quality silk thread, particularly that from white cocoons. It has repulsed attacks from the forest countless times, but ultimately it is attacked by Onibubu, the Locusts of the Apocalypse.

Here are some hints to help you get through the game.

Capture Minions To Gain Levels

You can gain experience points by capturing Forest Minions. You will not be able to capture stronger monsters while your level is low. You should try to capture monsters whenever possible because you will not get any experience points if you kill them. Try to make your character's and monsters' levels increase at roughly the same rate.

Work Hard At Raising Your Monsters

You will not be strong enough to defeat the more powerful Minions you will encounter during the course of the game. You must employ the monsters you have raised through fighting. Use your monsters to fight whenever possible so that they can gain levels.

Increase Your Abilities By Equipping Items

Your capture ability will increase as you gain levels, but your hit points (HP) and abilities will not. Abilities will only increase by equipping yourself with items such as weapons and armor. As the game progresses, you can purchase ever more powerful weapons and armor from the Blacksmith.

Heal Whenever Possible

The only way to heal yourself while in the forest is to use medicinal herbs. You can buy them at the Village Shop or find them in the forest. You should carry with you as much as possible. When you are really tired and running low on medicinal herbs, return to Mahbu for healing.

Spin Cocoons For Money

You can get money by selling the silk spun from cocoons in which you captured Minions. You must keep spinning cocoons and selling their silk in order to buy stronger weapons and armor. The higher the monster's level, the more valuable the cocoon is. You can get much more money by selling such valuable cocoons.

Listen To What The Villagers Have To Say

The villagers who you meet will tell you stories and legends about the land of Parel as well as give you information about their own background. Listen to what they have to say so that you will gain a deeper understanding of the history of Parel.

Seek The Secret Minion

The following folklore about Minions is told through the land of Parel.

Its power so great as not to fear even God

Separated into light and darkness and imprisoned by Elrihm

When the separated powers meet again

The Minion shall be resurrected

It is up to you to find out what will happen when the two powers are once again united.

EARLY STAGES OF THE GAME

You talk to Mahbu at the Watchtower on the eve of the Festival. Lui barges in while you talk.

You have a dream. Mahbu and Lui speak to you, and then you battle with the Dream Man.

The Divine Barrier breaks, and the Onibubu, the Locusts of the Apocalypse, attack the village.

The Village Chief, Jibara, and Garai hold a meeting. They decide that they must send you into the forest to find the Calabas herb that will cure the villagers' illness.

Garai teaches you about being a Cocoon Master. She gives you the flute that proves you are Cocoon Master.

You receive the key to the Beetle Gate from Lui at the Watchtower Hut just as Garai advised.

You meet Koris, the Blue Cocoon Master, right after entering the Beetle Forest. He trains you in the art of fighting the Forest Minions.

After searching through the Beetle Forest, you finally meet Koris at his cottage deep in the woods. He tells you about the Calabas herb and gives you the key to the Dragonfly Forest.
